ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

Applicants for admission to graduate study at Fairmont State University must have earned a baccalaureate degree from a regionally accredited institution or be in the final semester before degree completion. Official transcripts must be sent directly from the college or university that issued the baccalaureate degree, and any other schools attended, to the Fairmont State University Office of Enrollment Services.

In addition, students must submit their scores on a graduate aptitude test such as the Graduate Record Examination (GRE), Miller Analogies Test (MAT), or Graduate Management Admission Test (GMAT) (not required for the Criminal Justice program). Scores more than five years old are not accepted. This score requirement may be waived for applicants who already possess a master's degree. Test scores alone may not determine admission to Graduate Studies. Letters of recommendation, statements of purpose, and personal interviews may also be used to assess a student's preparedness for and probability of success in graduate school. If any of these are required, the applicant will be contacted by the appropriate Program Director.

Certain graduate programs may also have additional requirements. Applicants should contact the specific Graduate Program Director directly for more information. Applicants should contact the specific Graduate Program Director directly for more information on requirements and what constitutes a complete application.

INTERNATIONAL STUDENT REQUIREMENTS

The application must show any intervening graduate work. Official transcripts of such intervening graduate work are required. The applicable standards are those in effect when the student applies for readmission. Graduate course work more than seven years old may not be counted toward a graduate degree.
